SHERIDAN COUNTY

4-H CLUBS

mini MINUTES

Each month, our 4-H clubs will share mini-minutes for members that may have missed a meeting so everyone can stay in the loop!

NEW CLUB!

307 Pioneers
4-H Club

1st Thursday of each month

Leaders:

Jeremy Kisling & Cory Panak

@ 6:00 pm
Extension Office

The 307 Pioneers met on Thursday, April 6th, 2023. The club voted not to hold elections until we have 8 members of the club. The club discussed which community service projects to take part in and different fundraising opportunities. The club decided that every member will bring 1 idea to the next meeting and will vote on these at the next meeting which will be Thursday, May 4th, 2023 at the Extension Office.

Leader:
Jessie Koltiska

3rd Sunday of each month

May 20th
TBD

The club met April 16th at 4 pm at the Extension Office. We set a date for highway cleanup for May 20th from 11 am to 1 pm. Lunch picnic after highway cleanup. We discusses club shirts and club banners for 4-H projects. The club members plays "everyone's it" as a team building game. Meeting adjourned.

Leaders:
Erin Hinton & Jody DeHaven

@ 6:30 pm
Extension Office

3rd Tuesday
of each month

The Big Horn Cowboys Club met last month and had a series of presentations at their meeting. Presenters included Katheryn Matney-King, Lilly Thomas, Jesse DeHaven, Meredith Walker, Faith Hinton, Noah Hinton, and Joel Walker. Great job to all the presenters. Next meeting will be May 16th.

Tongue River Roundup

Leaders:

Barb Kepley & Heidi Justus

@ 2:00 pm

Ranchester Town hall

2nd Sunday of each month

Tongue River Roundup club met April 16th at 2 pm at the Ranchester Town Hall. The club participated in a Record Book Class and reviewed all that goes into a successful and complete Record Book. Next meeting will be June 11th at 2 pm at the Ranchester Town Hall.

Leader:
Susie Terry

@ 6:00 pm
Extension Office

1st Tuesday of
each month

Wyotana did not meet in April due to weather.

CRITTERS CRAFTS & COOKING CLUB

Leaders:

Carol French & Chandra Hendricks

@ 10:30 am
Extension Office

1st Saturday of each month

CCC met April 1st at the Extension Office. We gathered money for our new club shirts. We discussed community service for June which are going to be planting flowers at either the VA or the fairgrounds. Emmett May and Finn Bittner did a presentation on archery. Our next meeting will be June 3rd at 10:30 at the Extension Office.

GOOSE CREEK LIVESTOCK

Leaders:

Amber Jensen &
Melissa Murray

2nd
Sunday of each month

@ 5:00 pm
Extension Office

The Goose Creek Livestock 4-H club met on Sunday April 16, 2023 at the Extension Office. We had a quick meeting where the secretary and treasurer gave their reports. We quickly moved to old business where we decided on club t-shirt costs, recapped the 4-H Carnival, and reminded members that are planning to sell an animal at County Fair that they need to attend a sale meeting. Under new business, we discussed our next 3 meeting dates and times, created a committee to put on a fun activity for the club to do during county fair, and lastly we did a fun parliamentary procedure work shop. During the workshop we learned how to properly make a motion by deciding on what ingredients we would want in our trail mix. The next meeting will be May 15th. Meet up at the Kincaid's house for Highway Cleanup.

Renegades 4-H Club

Leader:

Melissa Petzold

The Renegades 4-H Club met on April 29th for Highway Cleanup. The next meeting will be a potluck lunch. More details to come.

Leaders:
Lacey Sell & Shane Ogle

@ 4:00 pm
Extension Office

Last Sunday of each month

Sheridan Livestock met on April 30th. They set a date for tie-dye for June 4th and are also planning to create flower pots for the senior home. The next meeting is the last Sunday on the month at 4 pm at the Extension Office.

4-H Members Thrive!

Through a Prosocial Orientation

Pro-social youth care about others and take actions that reflect this caring. Pro-social development happens through social learning, where youth observe and remember the behaviors that are rewarded, and then begin to practice them. Doing so helps youth internalize positive attitudes and actions until they become part of the young person's core values. Pro-social development is facilitated when youth feel that they belong and matter to others. It is through interaction with others that youth learn and practice pro-social values, leading ultimately to a young person who cares about others and gives back to his or her community.

When working with 4-H youth:

- Ensure that 4-H programs are welcoming to all, which sets the stage for youth belonging
- Set clear pro-social behavior expectations in 4-H programs
- Engage youth in developing a list of positive behaviors that they all agree to promote and practice in 4-H
- Help youth practice taking the perspective of others— especially when there are disagreements
- Recognize, support and encourage kindness and empathy among youth
- Help youth practice generosity to others through regular community service projects and activities
- Help older youth see that they are important role models for younger 4-H members

Thriving youth see helping others as a personal responsibility, and live up to the values of respect, responsibility, honesty, kindness, and generosity. Thriving youth care about, and give back to, their communities

Considerable research has been conducted on prosocial development and how youth development programs can promote it.

Research consistently shows that prosocial children, compared with their less prosocial peers, have better peer relationships, are less at risk for externalizing behaviors, and perform better in school.
